A BALTIMORE BRUTE,

Horrible Treatment of a Little Hoy-A Pittable and Sickening Sight in Court.

BALTIMORE, MD., April 24,-James Jason a colored man, well know in this city, was arraigned before Justice Fitzhugh to answer the charge of brutally beating his child, a little boy 7 years of age. The little fellow presented a pitiable and sickening sight at the hearing. One eye was badly bruised, and upon removing his jacket his back was found upon removing his jacket his back was found to be covered with heavy welts, which the victim stated was caused by a rawhide whip. Soveral colored neighbors of Jason testified to the cruel treatment of the boy, and the unmerciful and severe punishment he had been subjected to at the hands of the accused. After testifying the little fellow found difficulty in walking to his seat, His injuries were examined by a physician, and pronounced of a serious character. The whipping, it was alleged, took place last Saturday. The boy tried to escape, but was captured and taken back to Jason's house, where, after stripping him of his but was captured and taken back to Jason's house, where, after stripping him of his clothing and securing him to a chair by means of a chain, which cut his fleah, Jason applied the rawhide until the little fellow's back became a mass of bleeding, bruised flesh. His cries for mercy were heard by the neighbors, but knowing the excitable temperament of the accused they were afraid to interfere. The little fellow was kept indoors until Monday, when he succeeded in escaping from his tormentor and sought refuge at a neighbor's house. Upon the return of Jason Monday evening, he flew into a terrible passion at the departure of the boy, and swore that when he found him he would kill him. He started out in search of the little fellow, and several he found him he would kill him. He started out in search of the little fellow, and several of the neighbors, fearing he would execute his threat, had Jason arrested by Sergt. Reinhardt. The accused denied that he was the father of the boy, and said he was his stepson, his mother being named Rusk, who died a short time ago. He made no defense of his conduct other than saying he was so excited he could not control his passion. Justice Fitzhugh released Jason on bail for court, After the hearing the child pleaded with the "squire" not to send him back to Jason's house, but to some asylum. The 'squire remarked that as the accused was incompetent to take care of him, he would place him in charge of one of the fathers of St. Francis's Colored Catholic school, who was present, and signified his willingness to provide for the outcast.

FOUND DEAD TOGETHER. The Murder of Two Brothers in Wyoming Territory-Who They Are.

Special Disputch LARAMIE, WY. T., April 24 .- A message received here states that the bodies of Charles and Frederick Ward were found yesterday morning near Creelsburg and were taken to Minnewaukan. Mr. J. A. Percival, clerk of the court, telegraphed that they were both murdered. The crime must have been committed last week. The Ward brothers were interested in the town site of Bartlett and were also prominent real estate dealers and well known here. There is much excitement, both here and at Bartlett concerning their death.

Special Dispatch. New York, April 24.—The news of the murder of the Ward brothers was the source of much sorrow to many members of the mining exchange in this city. The Messrs, Ward were among the first to convey an idea of the mineral wealth of the country north of Laramie to capitalists in the east, and it was to them that the rapid development now being accomplished in that section is due. Mr. Al-exander C. Macdonald, of the firm of Mac-donald & Morrison, said: "I met the Ward brothers some years ago when I was prospect-ing near Laramie. Two more enterprising and agreeable men I don't think ever went into the mining business. They were devotedly the mining business. They were devotedly attached to each other. When I saw them last they had abandoned mining for real eslast they had abandoned mining for real estate and were engaged in organizing settlements of immigrants from the east. Among the principal towns thus settled by them are Fairbank, Field, Leiter, and Bartlett, all named in honor of Chicago capitalists whose interests they represented. I have no doubt they were murdered by some of the cattle men, whose business has been seriously injured by the influx of immigrants to the rich ands formerly used only for grazing purlands formerly used only for grazing pur-

OCEAN STEAMSHIP ON FIRE. The Captain's Escape-A Mysterious Blaze on the Italy, of the National Line.

Special Dispatch.
New York, April 24.—Dense volumes of black smoke were seen issuing through the opened deadlights of the steamship Italy, of the National line, lying at the foot of Houston street, at 5:05 this morning, and a moment afterward the steerage steward raised the slarm of fire. Hardly had the cry been sounded when jets of flames mingled with the escaping smoke. The hatches of the steamship were speedily battened down. In the steerage hospital there was an immigrant woman who came on the ship and was too ill to be removed yesterday. She was rescued by the sailors and borne on deck alive, but in a state of semi-consciousness from the effects of the smoke and fright. The surgeon cared for her in the cabin. In rescuing the woman the sailors discovered the source of the flames. The fire had broken out in the lamp room, and the thick smoke arose from the burning oil. The oil room is immediately under the chart room. Between the chart room and the forward winch is a space about four feet wide. The flooring at this spot was cut away with axes and four streams of water introduced through the hole thus made. The fire boat William F. Havemeyer arrived at the scene soon afterward and immediately the scene soon afterward and immediately began pouring three more powerful streams upon the flames. The fire was got under control in half an hour. The damage to the ship between decks is estimated at about $3,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery. Capt. Williams had a very marrow escape, the flames having made their way into his room before he was awake.

Suffering from Typhus Fever.

NEW YORK, April 24.-Thirteen young children attending St. Stephen's Home School attached to the Roman Catholic church of that name are to-day inmates of the reception hospital suffering from typhus fever, con-tracted, it is said, in the school. The chil-drens' ages range from 5 to 9 years, and they are all girls. Fifteen other children from the same institution are now in the Riveside hospital suffering from scarlet fever.

The report of the sanitary superintendent on the epidemic in St. Stephen's home shows that five other children has caught the disease and were sent to the Kiverside hospital. The building was thoroughly fumigated.

A Gold Mine in Pennsylvania.

READING, PA., April 24.—Considerable excitement prevails at Myerstown, Lebanon county, owing to a supposed discovery of a gold vein. Farmers have given up their business and commenced digging on their premises. Kreitzer & Co., of Philadelphia, have equipped a mine with a sixty-horse-power engine, a furnace for smelting ore, &c., and are making daily shipments of quartz to Philadelphia. Over $6,000 have already been spent in experimenting. It is also claimed that a rich vein of silver has been struck.

Is Sir John a Perjurer! TORONTO, ONT., April 24.—The case of perjury against Sir John MacDouald at the instance of Gen. Butt Hewson was called in the police court here to-day. Mr. Robinson, Q. C., for Sir John, said that he did not wish to take advantage of his privilege as a member of parliament, but as the alleged offense was committed at Ottawa in March, 1882, the case should be tried there, besides Sir John's parliamentary duties compelled his presence at Ottawa. The summons was left in abey-

MRS, BELLE BEACHAMP

On Trial for the Murder of Her Husband-

An Interesting Case. BALTIMORE, April 24.—The Sun's special report of the trial of Mrs. Belle Beachamp for the murder of her husband by poison in December last, which commenced to-day at grand Denton, Caroline county, says the prisoner entered the court room, which was crowded, dressed in deep mourning, and wore a long black veil. Her face was pale and her lips compressed. For a while she sat in the prisoners dock but at the request of her counsel was permitted to sit with them. She stood up and faced the clerk when he read the indictment, not the least sign of emotion was shown. Two of her sisters, Mrs. Leyden and Mrs. Towers, sat on the bench with her. Judges Stump and Wickes occupied the bench. A jury was obtained in an hour and a half. Mr. Bryan, state's attorney, on opening the case said: "On April 24, 1873, Miss Belle Leyden became the happy bride of Martin Beachamp. To-day, the tenth anniversary of that wedding, she is on trial for the murder of her husband." This announcement took every one by surprise except Mrs. entered the court room, which was crowded, the murder of her husband." This announcement took every one by surprise except Mrs. Beachamp, upon whom it had no visible effect. He then proceeded to explain that the evidence in the case would be mostly circumstantial. The state would show a motive for the crime in the criminal intimacy of James Ahearn and Mrs. Beachamp which had been suspected by her husband. It was possible the prisoner wanted to get her husband. been suspected by her husband. It was pos-sible the prisoner wanted to get her husband out of the way that she might marry Abearn. Counsel for the prisoner in his opening state-ment for the defense said the whole proceed ing was a malicious persecution, emanating from the bitter enemies of the pris oner. The state then examined the fra-witness, whose testimony was by no mean-very damaging to the prisoner. He was present at the time of Beachamp's death, stating by his bedside. In reply to a suggesti-from witness Beachamp said he did not want, a physician—he was accustomed to "these a physician—he was accustomed to "these things." Shortly afterward he caught hold of witness impulsively and died in about five minutes. The court adjourned until to-

WORKING OF THE POOL.

Dissatisfaction Among the Weaker Railway Lines-A War in Prospect.

NEW YORK, April 24 .- To-night at the Windsor hotel one of the passenger agents said that to-day's meeting was merely preliminary to that to be held to-morrow, at which not only the passenger agents, but the managers of the various lines, will attend. managers of the various lines, will attend. There is, he said, great dissatisfaction among the weaker lines with the working of the pool, and unless some more equitable arrangement can be agreed upon the combination will go to pieces. In today's meeting not even a plan by which existing differences could be avoided was suggested. As it is, the earnings for the past six months show that the Pennsylvania line is $30,000 ahead and the Lake Shore $10,000. From the present attitude of these lines it looks $30,000 ahead and the Lake Shore $10,000. From the present attitude of these lines it looks as if they were going to rely on the strength of their position to make a fight against the others. Other lines besides these, among them the New York Central, seem to favor the continuance of the present rates and percentages. It all depends upon what action these lines will take in to-morrow's meeting whether the pool continues or not. "The stronger lines must make concessions," said another passenger agent, "if the present combination is to continue. If they feel they can successfully resist the warfare which will at once be begun agains, them they will no doubt hasten the breach."

IRELAND'S FRIENDS.

Arrival of Five Hundred Delegates for the Convention which Meets To-Day.

PHILADELPHIA, April 24 .- Among those who arrived here to-day to attend the Land League convention were the Rev. Lawrence Walsh, treasurer of the National Land League; John J. Flynn, secretary of the league, and Patrick Egan, of Dublin. Mr. Egan said today that what is known as the dynamite party will have very little following in the convention. Referring to the absence of Par-nell from the convention, Mr. Egan said that it was necessary for Mr. Parnell to remain in parliament to fight inch by inch a bill which is to come before parliament, known as the "Indictable offense criminal code bill." The real object of which is to cope with Irish disaffection both in Ireland and England. Referring to the movement in the mother country, Mr. Egan said: "It depends in a large measure on the support of the Irish element in America. There is no doubt that so long as the present disaffection is keptalive by the as the present disallection is keptalive by the support of twenty million Irish-Americans in America, that all the ingenuity of the Eng-lish government is, and will be taxed to de-vise measures to cope with the spirit extant in America, and Ireland will be correspond-ingly hopeful of ultimate success. Five hundred delegates have arrived. The headquarters of the avenuity headquarters of the executive council of the land league at the Centennial hotel has been thronged all day and night. President Mooney says there is not the slightest indica-tion of a disturbance at the convention. He and his friends have carefully canvassed the situation. O'Donovan Rossa will attend as a reporter for his paper, the United Irishman.
